

California Proposition 65 Statement

All products manufactured by Copely Developments do not contain any listed substances as per the latest lists issued on the 17th July 2026.

No chemicals listed are intentionally added or known to exist in any of our raw material formulations.

In order to ensure that all of our products comply completely with all current legislation we carry out a regular review of our processes.

If you want to ensure that you are getting a top quality product that complies with all current legislation then please contact Copely for your requirements.
